the scene of danger instantaneously and with precision, the damage from this fire would probably not have amounted to more than one third of what it did.

Chicago needs an increase of the Steam Fire Department, and the establishment of the Fire Alarm Telegraph. Shall these two necessities be supplied?

MONTAIT, October 20, 1800.

A PRESIDENCY FOR M. RECONTRIBUSE.

It must have been surprising to many that Mr. Breckinridge, though he has not the slightest hope of being elected, either by the people or by Congress, should have sacrificed himself and his future for a mere nomination. But it appears now that he has been promised by the disunionists that he shall be President, if not of the United States, the least of a Southern Republic. It is on account of that promise that he has not answered the Norfolk questions.—Mr. Buchanan sanctions the scheme; and he will make over to the disunionists the archives, treasury, army and may, as soon as the disolution takes place. It is supposed by them that Mr. Breckinridge will sarry the fifteen Southern States.

Southern States.

THE PATE OF DISUSIONISTS SOUTH.

Southern gentlemen admit that if only the Northern people will quietly await the setten of the disunionists and not stir the fiames by interference, there will be an uprising of the conservative imasses in the South that will sweep the disunionists out of existence.

Secretary Cobb goes about openly avowing ressonable purposes, threatening Diagnost and Revolution. Would it not be more decent for him first to resign his office and relieve himself of the eath which specifily binds him to support the Federal Constitution? But as he does not resign, is it not the plain duty of Mr. Bichanan to dismiss him at once? Can it be possible that the latter is willing to be implicated in the treason of his subordinate?

From the Tribune of Tuesday.]

The stock market this morning, although irregular, exhibited a more cheerful tone than last week, with a check to its downward tendency, which grew in the latter part of the day into a sharp rally. The disunion alarmists appear to have exhausted, for the time at least, their influence upon holders of stocks, while the loss points tonched by many of the leading railroad shares have brought in a large number of new buyers for cash. The improvement of the day was assisted by the purchass, of some of fits prominent bears, who appeared to think that the time to cover shorts had arrived. The summission houses had a large amount of orders, of which those on time were very difficult to execute, excepting at unusual differences from each. The supply of deckn in the street, of several descriptions, is quite small, and deliveries are made with difficulty. The attack of the bears was much less yigor-ons than during the last week, the adams confort of the Secretary of the Treasury having been withdrawn by his return to Washington.

They are being appreciated, and every one in use creates a demand for others. Call and see that they have becomed to the contraction as a party. A PRIVATE REHEARAL AT NORTH's.—The Banshee screemed horribly at North's Democratic Theatre last evening, Gov. McComas twisting the animal's tail, and like a Spanish bolero at a buil-fight pelting poor Banshee with little paper torpedoes from his Southern exchanges. Dick Merrick dissolved the Union in briny lears, was hard on the colored person. Dick offered to carre up the American Eagle, and asked the audience if they preferred white mest or dark. There were six ladies in the house. The Invincibles were present, but could not be kept from backallding to the bar at the rear of the theatre. After the dismal furee was over, the Invincibles came up South Clark street in the drienting rain, an asthmatic fifer playing "There's no lick about the house," which no one will dispute. Poor fellow, it will all be over in a week.

CHICAGO TERRO ous cost. In fact, all the mac ERSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1800. ABRAHAM LINCOLN HANNIBAL HAMLIN num. The share of the South, admit that all the Slave States seconds, would be twenty-five to thirty millions, at least, to say pothing of the public debt. Here is an average of two millions to each State to be raised by tax for national purposes alone, exclusive of city, bounty and State taxes, which are by no means light. The slave-holders, whose property now bears no share of the public burden, would at once be assessed. Men like Wade Hampton, who owned 4000 negroes, would be called upon for the modest sum of fifty thousand dollars per anaum each, to keep the new government a going. Not they alone, but slave-holders great and small would be peremptorily asked to respond to the tax-gathers demands. If slaves were declared exempt, white men would rebel as they are now ready to do in at least two States of the South. If a system of duties upon imports were adopted, the result would not be changed. The men who own the chattels personal, would still be obliged to carry the load, because they would consume the bulk of the dutiable articles brought in. So, in whatever way turned, the result of dissolution of the Union and by fair. And sithough I had the opportunity of seeing but little or nothing of the exhibition proper, there was a very lively satisfaction felt and expressed at the character of this, their first effort. Subsequently I spent part of a days the Prary County Fair, Pinckneyville, which, to a hasty survey, fully demonstrated that the farmers, mechanics and citizen gereally in Southern Illinois are all links the Farmers, mechanics and citizen gereally in Southern Illinois are alfullated to the farmers, mechanics and citizen gereally in Southern Illinois are alfullated to the farmers, mechanics and citizen gereally in Southern Illinois are alfullated to the farmers, mechanics and citizen gereally in Southern Illinois are alfullated to the farmers, mechanics and citizen gereally in Southern Illinois are alfullated to the farmers, mechanics and citizen gereally in Southern Illinois are alfullated to the f LEONARD SWETT, of McLem, JOHN M. So, in whatever way turned, the result of dissolution of the Union and the setting up of a independent govern-ment, would entail new and extraordinary axes from which the slave-holders almost wholly escape.

The sum of the matter is this; in the Union and under present revenue regulations, Slavery is a pet and favored institution that is well cared for and well protected, without a penny of cost to itself. Out of the Union, it would be compelled to stand on its own legs, pay its own taxes and protect itself. The shrewd men of the South see and know all this thing; and when alarmists of the North bather about driving them out of the Union in which they occupy so warm and cosy a place, they talk nonsense for which there is no excuse. Out of the Union, Slavery would eat itself up in half a century, or dwindle down to that last stage of berbarism in which the master would not be distinguish. It is a yoke not only on the necks of four millions of blacks, but a burden and a cross to eighteen mil-lions of whites! Let it go, and the sooner electing him; the latter support him be-cause they know he does not stand the slightest chance in the world of an election, But the South will not support the preand because his success in Illinois might be the means of throwing the election into enses of her bankrupt traders in merchan-lise and politics. When the sober, second Congress, in which event either Breckin-ridge or Lane would be the next President. hought comes the disunionists will be put to shame. Were there no patriotic reasons connected with their desire to preserve the confederacy unimpaired, self-interest would command her to put the agitators down.

For many year—as long, in fact, as the revenue has been collected by duties on imports—the North has borne the burdens of government for the benefit of the South.—They are our mechanics, farmers and laborers who have consumed the great bulk of the foreign merchandise which has come to our shores; they have paid the duties on sugar, salt tea, coffee, iron, cutlery and cotton and woolen goods; they have worn all the state of the latter never supported him with the honest purpose of aiding in his constant. and the T. & H is that the former were honest in their support of Douglas as long as there was anything to be accomplished by it, while the latter never supported him with the honest purpose of aiding in his election, but to secure the triumph of his deadliest foes.

If the Times and Heraid undertakes to read out of the party all Northern Democrats who take the same view of the matter which the Pieneer and Democrats og ably enforces, it will have its hands full, and at the close of its labors will find the Demoa and woolen goods; they have worn all cheaper silks and French muslins and ints. Free labor has made them able to do all this, and their desire for equality not only in political rights but in social and fashionable observances as well, has made them willing. The burdens have fallen heavily upon them, and they have borne them without a word. The same class in the Bouth have, meanwhile, done little or nothing. They are the "poor whites" whose social customs and manners are formed independent of the dominant class. They indulge in few or none of the luxuries which are common in almost every habits the state of the class of the class of the dominant class. hence they contribute little to the expenses of government. For the most part they are clad in articles of domestic mannfacture—themselves their children and wives; and their food, drink and significance even in "Egypt." The Democrats down here, of the rural districts, back from the towns and railroads where newspa-pers do not circulate freely, are getting to rewith freedom in the Territories on the one hand, and Breckinridge with a Slave Code and the revival of the African slave trade on the other, advised its friends to vote for. the former, and expressed the hope that the free States would give Lincoln at least one million majority. Preparatory to the meeting of Congress, the Capital is being renovated and put in its usual order. Since the last session, several changes have been made of no little importance. The seats and desks have been returned to the House hall, and the benches, of course, removed. This is in accordance with the resolution passed at the last session. The desk of the Government reporters, in front of the Clerk's desk, has been remodeled, so that those mattering continues resultenen may have more room. Fatal Railhoad Accident — On Saturday morning, the train going West on the Great Western Bailhoad, when near the Manvaiscterre bridge, a few miles on the other side of Jacksonville, met with an accident which resulted in the death of Elijah Montaine, watchman, John Johnson, sagineer, and John Humes, theman, were injured—the latter, it is thought, seriously.

The accident was caused by the fact that the bridge was burning down at the time, and, owing to the slippery condition of the track, the train could not be stoaped song-mough to prevent the engine and the bargage cars from going through the bridge into the creek. Fortunately the passenger cars were prevented from following by giving way of the coupling between them and the baggage cars—tjering-field Journal.

road towards St. Angelo. The balls and grapeware sping about, but the carriages still proceeded. When they arrived in the neighborhood of St. Angelo they were in sight of the Neapolitans, who were drawn up there in line of battle. Fortunately, close to this spot was can of the torreats dammed in which formed a covered way. In this the carriages turned down, except the last, which was struck by a cannon ball andremained on the road. Through this road Garibadid advanced, revolver in hand, towards St. Angelo, and arrived just in time to give new courage to the defineders. The object was to drive away the column in the ream on the hills to the left of St. Angelo; this was easily done by throwing some skirmishers on the hights above those occupied by the intruders. There was, fortunately, some artillery in front, which was turned to good account, but, as usual, it was the bayonet which decided. The Neapolitans tried to good account, but, as usual, it was the bayonet which decided. The Neapolitans tried to penetrate by a cavairy attack, but were bearen back, chiefly by the coolness of the Calabrase, who behaved splendidly. After three or four hours' fighting, whatever could be got together of available men were carried forward, and the Neapolitans not only driven back from their position on the great road, but likewise the barricade retaken. This was about 9 o'clock.

During this time the fight had been equally hot at Sania Maria. Gen. Milvits. who commanded there, was obliged to confine his defence to the immediate vicinity of the towa, holding the main road to Capna and the space between and the railway. Some light, earthworks which he had thrown up lately were of good service. But the enemy brought up fresh troops, which he had thrown up lately were of good service. But the enemy brought up fresh troops, which he had thrown up lately were of good service. But the enemy brought up fresh troops, which he had thrown up lately were of good service. is an it-case. He stopped as once and turning to the Duck remarked, "There is a half with whom I should be pleased to dance." The matural question as to the singular request was asked and replied to. "She looks so much like my mother this quiese, that I wish an internation," After health was also the effects of Lincoln's election. In that the matural question are to the singular request, and it is a better that the state extraction of the state of the stat ously resisted the attack, and accept clackened fire, when all as once the one situated at the foot of the hill became silent. The Royalista, to the number of 2,500, got round the hill, and, rushing upon the guns, spiked five of them, and kilded several such a their pieces. Garibald on the San-Tammaro side, soon observed the silence of his favorite haltery, and an aid-decamp from ten. Milwitz soon informed him of the disaster, which would probably have lost him the battle. Garibaldi at once started off, crossed Santa Maria, followed by Medied and his start, and, collecting what men he could, cried out in a voice which caused all to shudder, "We are going to die, but the Italians must with the day; at all other points we have conquered." Followed by 100 men, at a rap d pace. Garibaldi, leading the way in a small disabled carriage, want right forward. But just as they got near the Casino of San Angelo, some Nearolistan Chassens, who were lying on the ground, rose and fell upon them. The coachman drove his hores into a ditch, and formed a barricade of the carriage. Garribaldi jumped up, indignant, and went up to fife Chasseurs, shouting "Viva Italia! Some of his men communing up at the same time, the enemy became demoralized, and took to flight. Garibaldi was salightly wounded in the stomesh, and his trou, sers were riddled by two or three builtets. "If I only had another pair," he said, and without farither remark he continued his march toward as battalion of 180 Hungarians, commanded by General Mogorady. He peinted to the Neapolitan show were in possession of the battery, and cried out to them, "forward, my lack, dispense that rightle younder for me!" The fine, a squadron of cavalry, a cotipany of chasseurs, and a company of artitlery. The Hungarians, without waiting to count the numbers of the adversary, mehd forward and charged with the bayonet. After a confess of twenty minrust, the battery was retaken, and once more it turned its storm of grape on the Neapolitans shout 300. Garibaldi did pot wait to dress hi

The sentiate the barracks was the first to give the slar Gen. Sirtori collected whatever force he had hand—among them two companies of Pimontees Bersaglieri and two companies of the which had come down by rail from Nap a short time before. The resistance was never encretice—owing probably to the circum. was already more oney punnescing and number of them taken prisoners; of the Fest, a part got into the direction of Maddaloni, where Bixlo came down upon them, and made likewise a number of prisoners. While this was going on, Sanlis had drawn nearer with his brigade, and Garlisidi had come up to the hights. The Piedmontese as well as some other troops were sent up to assist, and then the race began, with the Piedmontese Berasglieri in front. The Neapolitan tried to make a stand in front of Caserta Vecchia, but were soon made to yield, leaving 400 or 500 prisoners in our hands. This done, the whole assumed allogether the character of a chase. Two entire battalions, cut off toward the left and pressed back, fell into the hands of Col. Vinckier, of the Brigade Saulis, and were made prisoners almost to man. It was quite ludicrous to see the numbers of prisoners, many of whom still had their arms, escorted by a few men as prisoners to the Paiace of Caserta, in the courtyard of which, before evening, 2400 men, with two Colonels and several other superior officers, had found accommadation. The rest-were dispersed in all directions, so that of the column of 5,000 very few will probably return to the right bank of the Volturno.

This success of the second day was but the ripe turn to the right bank of the Volturno.

This success of the second day was but the ripe fruit which fell from the tree by a little shaking. It was on the 1st of October that the question was deedled.

The peculiar benefit of this climate appears to be from its dryness. There is as much, or even a little more of rain there than elsewhere, in the summer mouths; but it comes generally in the night, and the days that follow brighten out in a fresh, tonic brilliancy, as dry almost as before. The winter plimate is intensely cold, and yet so dry, and clear, and still, for the most part, as to create no very great suffering. One who is properly dressed finds the climate much more enjoyable than the amphibiona, half-suid, half-soid, sloppy grave-like chill of the East. The spowy are light; a kind of snow-dew that makes an lich, or songetimes three, in a night. Real snow-torms are rare; there was none the last winter. As to rain in the winter, it is almost unknown. There was no drop of rain the last winter, from the laster part of October to the middle, or about the middle of about the middle of March, except a slight drizzle on Thanksgiving Day. And there was not anow-melting anough for more than about eight or ten days to wet a deer-akin mocessin (which many gentlemen wear all the winter.) It will be important for the invalid going to Minnesots for recovery, to be there in the winter, when the advantages are best. He must also be provided with the means of out-door life. Some invalids will have nothing to hope for, except as they become residents there for the rest of their lives.
